13 II 3-4
And O how dreadful is this place!
Tis God's own house, tis heaven's gate

65 II 1
Thy chosen temples, Lord, how fair!

215 I 1-2
How pleasant how divinely fair,
O Lord of hosts thy dwellings are!

66 IV 1-2
Thy temple is the arch
Of yon unmeasured sky;

215 I 1-2
How pleasant, how divinely fair,
O Lord of hosts thy dwellings are!

659 I 1-2
Thou, whose unmeasured temples stands,
Built o'er earth and sea,

660 I-III
The perfect world, by Adam trod,
Was the first temple built by God;
His fiat lay the corner stone,
And heaved its pillars one by one.

He hung its starry roof on high,
The broad expanse of azure sky,
He spread its pavement, green and bright,
And curtained it with morning light.

The mountains in their places stood,
The sea, the sky; and all was good
And when itsfirst pure praises rang,
The morning stars together sang.

658 I 3-4
And yet thou sayst in Christain lands,
To dwell in temples m de with hands;

658 IV 1
To thee they all belong;

660 IV(3-4)^{2}
But in thy sight our offering stand,
A humbler temple made with hands.

663 II 1
These walls we too thy honor raise;

664 II(4-6)^{2}
Yet curtained tent or temple fair,
If humble, contrite hearts be there,
Maybe thy resting place.

664 III 4-5
In all our past, thy matchless grace
Hath been vouchsafed within this place.

664 IV 2
For thine abode low at thy feet

665 I 1-2
Jehovah, God, who dwelt of old,
In templed made with hands,

665 III 1-2
The rich man's gift, the widow's mite
Are blended in these walls;

665 III 3-4
These altars welcome all alike,
Who heed God's gracious calls

666 II 3
Where the heart is the altar whence incense shall roll

666 II 4
And Messiah the King who shall pray for the soul.

Behalf(on whose)

657 III 2
To the heart thy sin oppressed

657 IV 1-2
Open wide, O God, thy door,
For the outcastand the poor,

657 IV 1-2
Open wide, O God, thy door,
For the outcast and the poor,

659 III 1
May erring minds that worship here

659 III 3
And they whomourn and they who fear,

659 III 3
And they who mourn and they who fear,

662 III 1-6
Here vouchsafe to all my servants
What they ask of thee to gain,
What they gain from thee forever
With the blessed to retain,
And hereafter in thy glory
Ever more with thee to reign.

That crowds were born to glory here.

Divine Presence(for)

662 II 1-2
To this temple, where we call thee,
Come, O Lord of hosts to day;

664 IV (5-6)[2]
This temple with thy glory fill;
Our Father and our King!

Divine Presence(for)

666 III(1-4)^{6}
O Father, come in! but not in the cloud
Which fills the bright courts where thy chosen one vowed;
But come in that Spirit of glory and grace,
Which beams on the soul and illumines the face.

666 IV(1,3-4)^{2}
O come in the power of thy life-giving word,
Till faith bring the peace to the penitent given,
And love fills the air with the fragrance of heaven.

Service(that God may render)

664 II 4
Yet curtained tent or temple fair,

665 II 3
From sorrow's eye wipe every tear,

665 IV 3-4
May naught here ever come between
This people and thy face!

666 IV(2-4)^{2}
And reveal to each heart its Redeemer and Lord;
Till faith bring the peace to the penitent given
And love fills the air with the fragance of heaven.

Fear not, O little flock, the foe,

445 I 1-2
Fear not, O little flock, the foe,
Who madly seeks your overthrow.

Fear not, be strong! your cause belongs
To him who can avenge your wrong;

Great Builders of thy church below

Negative

866 I (1-4)^{6}

We never see a temple, like Judah's of old,
Whose portals were marble, whose vaultings were gold;
No incense is lighted, no victims are slain,
No reverent knees praying to hallow the fane.

Sing

864 I (4-6)^{2}

To Father, Son, and Holy Ghost,
Our grateful songs we raise,
Our grateful songs we raise.

864 II (1)^{2}

The heaven of heavens cannot contain.

864 II (2-3)^{2}

Thy majesty, and in thy train
Thy archangel veils his face.

Miscellaneous

864 I 1-3

O Lord, our God, almighty King,
We fain would make this temple ring with
With our adoring praise.

864 IV 1-3

These courts renewed and made more meet
For Thine abode, low at Thy feet
With prayer, to Thee we bring.

865 IV 1-2

From things unholy and unclean
We separate this place.

865 IV 1-2

From things unholy and unclean
We separate this place.

865 V (1-4)^{2}

Now with this house we give to thee
Ourselves; our hearts, our all,
The pledge of faith and loyalty,
Held subject to thy call.

865 V (1-4)^{2}

Now with this house we give to thee
Ourselves, our hearts, our all,
The pledge of faith and loyalty,
Held subject to thy call.

665 V (1-4)^2

Now with this house we give to thee
Ourselves, our hearts, our all,
The pledge of faith and loyalty,
Held subject to thy call.

Lore simple and lowly the walls that we raise,

666 II 2

And humbler the pomp of procession and praise,

666 II 2

And humbler the pomp of procession and praise.

Death

Benefit of Death

594 I-II

Weep not for a brother deceased,
Our loss is his infinite gain;
A soul out of prison released,
And freed from its bodily chain;
With songs let us follow his flight,
And mount with his spirit above,
Escaped to the mansions of light,
And lodged in the Eden of love.

Our brother the haven hath gained,
Outflying the tempest and wind;
His rest he hath sooner obtained,
And left his companions behind,
Still tossed on a sea od distress,
Hard toiling to make the blest shore,
Where all is assurance and peace,
And sorrow and sin are no more.

625 III 1

"Forever with the Lord!"

Sleep

583 I-V

Asleep in Jesus! blessed sleep,
From which none ever wakes to weep!
A calm undisturbed repose,
Unbroken by the last of foes.

Asleep in Jesus! O how sweet
To be for such a slumber meet!
With holy confidence to sing,
That death hath lost his venomed sting.

Asleep in Jesus! peaceful rest,
Whose waking is supremely blest!
No fear, no woe, shall dim that hour
That manifests the Saviour's power.

Asleep in Jesus! O for me
May such a blissful refuge be!
Securely shall my ashes lie,
Waiting the summons from on high.

Asleep in Jesus! far from thee
Thy kindred and their graves may be;
But thine is still a blessed sleep,
From which none ever wakes to weep.

Miscellaneous
102 VI 3-4
And death, when death shall be our lot,
Shall join our souls to thee.

467 III 5-6
O blessed thought! in dying
We go to meet the Lord.

581 I 3-4
Death is the gate to endless joy;
And yet we dread to enter there.

581 II 1
The pains, the groans, the dying strife.

581 II 1
The pains, the groans, the dying strife.

581 II 1-2
The pains, the groans, the dying strife,
Fright our approaching souls away.

581 III 1-4
O if my Lord would come and meet,
My soul would stretch her wings in haste
Fly fearless through death's iron gates,
Nor feel the terrors as she passed!

585 I 1
It is not death to die.

585 I 2
To leave this weary road.

585 I 3-4
And midst the brother-hood on high
To be at home with God.

585 II 1-2
It is not death to close
The eye long dimmed by tears.

585 II 3-4
And wake, in glorious repose,
To spend eternal years.

585 III 1-2
It is not death to fling
Aside this sinful dust.

585 III 3-4
And rise, on strong exulting wing,
To live among the just.

Miscellaneous
587 III 1-6

There is a world above,
Where parting is unknown,
A long eternity of love,
Formed for the good alone;
And faith beholds the dying here
Translated to that happier sphere.

587 III 5-6

And faith beholds the dying here
Translated to that happier sphere.

589 I 1-4

When on my day of life the night is falling,
And, in the wind from unsummed spaces blows,
I hear far voices out of darkness calling
My feet to paths unknown.

591 I 2

When God recalls his own.

591 I 3-4

And bids them leave a world of woe
For an immortal crown.

591 II 1-2

Is not e'en death a gain to those
Whose life to God was given?

591 II 3-4

Gladly to earth their eyes they close,
To open them in heaven.

595 I 3

'Tis but the voice that Jesus sends,

596 III 2-3

When Christ, our Lord, from darkness sprang,
Death, the last foe, was captive led.

598 I 5-8

Let this earth dissolve, and blend
In death the wicked and the just;
Let those ponderous orbs descend,
And grind us into dust.

611 II 3-4

Thou now divided by the stream,
The narrow stream, of death.

611 II 7-8

Part of his host have crossed the flood,
And part are crossing now.

Miscellaneous

611 III 1-4
Ten thousand to their endless home
This solemn moment fly;
And we are here to the margin come,
And we expect to die,

611 IV 3-4
And eager long for our release,
And full felicity.

611 V 7-8
Come, Lord of hosts, the waves divide,
And land us all in heaven!

617 VI 3-4
Though Jordan's waves around me roll,
Fearless I'd launch away.

620 III 1-2
Nearer the bound of life,
Where we lay our burdens down.

620 IV 1-2
But the waves of that silent sea
Roll dark before my sight.

625 I 1-2
"Forever with the Lord!"
Amen, so let it be.

683 III 5-6
Death will be to slumber
In that sweet embrace.

17 III (1-3),[4] IV (1-4)[5]

Lord, what shall earth and ashes do?
We would adore our Maker too;
From sin and dust to thee we cry.

God is in heaven, and men below;
Be short our tunes; our words be few;
A solemn reverence checks our songs,
And praise sits silent on our tongues.

18 II (1-8);[6] III 4

Our years are like the shadows
On sunny hills that lie,
Or grasses in the meadow
That blossom but to die:
A sleep, a dream, a story
By strangers quickly told,
An unremaining glory
Of things that soon are old.

Our years before they fail.

19 III (5-6)[2]

Prone to wander, Lord, I feel it,
Prone to leave the God I love.

20 III 2

Before his gifts earth's richest boons wax dim.

27 III 4

All unworthily.

29 IV 1-2; V (1-6)[2]

I thank thee, Lord, that thou hast kept
The best in store.

I thank thee, Lord, that here our souls
Though amply blest,
Can never find, although they seek,
A perfect rest;
Nor ever shall, until they learn
On Jesus' breast.

40 II 4

Joys which earth can not afford.

50 V 3

Heaven's morning breaks, and earth's vain shadows flee;

60 IV 1-2

So be it, Lord; thy throne shall never,
Like earth's proud empire, pass away.

61 III ( )[2], IV 1

And earthly hopes and human succors fail,
The weary world is moldering to decay.

62 III(3-4)^{2}
The hopes in earthly love and joy,
That one by one depart.

79 III 2
To save rebellious worms.

80 V(2,3)^{2}
How shall polluted mortals dare,
Beneath thy feet we lie afar.

88 II(2)^{2}
Man decays, and ages move.

90 II 1
The Lord is King! child of the dust.

92 III(1,3)^{2}
No strength of our own, nor goodness we claim;
In this our strong tower for safety we hide.

94 IV 4; V(1-4)^{3}
He knows our feeble frame.
Our days are as the grass,
Or like the morning flower;
If one sharp blast sweep o'er the field
It withers in an hour.

97 II 4
They look beyond this transcient world.

106 IV(1)^{2}
Frail children of dust, and feeble as frail.

110 II(4-7); ^{4} III(1-6)^{4}
O'er all the weary world;
Above its sad and lowly plain
They bend on hovering wing,
And ever o'er its Babel sounds.

Yet with the woes of sin and strife
The world hath suffered long;
Beneath the angel-strain have rolled
Two thousand years of wrong;
And Man, deaf with rout, hears not
The love song which they bring.

121 III 6
But in this world of sin.

122 I 1-4;II 3-4
Thou didst leave thy throne and thy kingly crown,
When thou camest to earth for me;
But in Bethlehem's home there was found no room
For thy holy nativity.

But in lowly birth didst thou come to earth,
And in great humility.

127 II 4
So patient, through a world of woe.

143 II 1
When the woes of life o'ertake me.

145 I 3;III 4
In love of thee and scorn of self.
The sinful world that lies below.

160 I (3)^{2}
Death and sorrow, earth's dark story.

166 III 2
Thou, from heaven beholding human nature's fault.

177 III 4
Heaven and earth shall pass away.

183 II (1-4)^{2}; III (3-4)^{4} IV (1-3)^{3}
Look how we grovel here below,
Fond of these earthly toys;
Our souls, how heavily they go,
To reach eternal joys.

In vain we tune our formal songs,
In vain we strive to rise;
Hosannas languish on our tongues,
And our devotion dies.

And shall then we then forever live
At this poor dying rate?
Our love so faint, so cold to Him.

188 I 4
Descend on our apostate race.

201 II 2,; III 1
In this dark vale of tears;
This lamp, through all the tedious night.

211 I(2-3)^{5}

O my people, faint and few
Comfortless, afflicted, broken.

224 IV(1,3)^{2}

Feebly they lisp thy glories forth
Quickly they relapse back to earth.

225 IV(3-4)^{3}

A man! an heir of death! a slave
To sin! a bubble on the wave!

240 III 4

All that tells the world is lost.

242 I(3-4)^{2}; II 2

Plunged in a gulf of dark despair,
We wretched sinners lay,
Without one cheering beam of hope,
Or spark of glimmering day.
Behold our helpless grief,

244 IV(2-4)^{4}; V(1-2)^{2}

What have I then whereon to trust?
I nothing have, I nothing am;
Excluding in my every name;
My glory swallowed up in shame.

Guilty I stand before thy face;
On me I feel thy wrath abide.

246 II(1-4)^{2}; III 1-4

Like the rough sea that can not rest,
You live devoid of peace;
A thousand stings within your breast
Deprive your souls of ease.

Why will you in the crooked ways
Of sin and folly go?
In vain you travel all your days,
To reap eternal woe.

250 I(3-4)^{4}; II 1-2; III 1

O where shall rest be found,
Rest for the weary soul?
'Twere vain the ocean's depths to sound,
Or pierce to either pole.

The world can never give
The bliss for which we sigh.

Beyond this vale of tears.

252 V 3
Vain world, farewell, from thee I part.

268 I (1-4) 3
How sad our state by nature is!
Our sin, how deep it stains!
And Satan binds our captive souls,
Fast in his slavish chains.

271 I (3) 3
Weary of earth, myself, and sin.

296 I (3-4) 5
When tide seems short and death is near,
And I am pressed by doubt and fear,
And sin, an overflowing tide,
Assail my peace on every side.

309 VI (1-2) 2
The earth shall soon dissolve like snow,
The sun forbear to shine.

319 I 2
Through this lonely vale of tears.

334 III 1
While life's dark maze I tread.

339 II 1
If in this darksome wild I stray.

393 III 3
Is this vile world a friend to grace,

425 I 3
Saviour divine, diffuse thy light.

426 II 1-2
O that my heart might dwell aloof
From all created things.

439 I (3-4) 2
Lord, how secure and blest are they
Who feel the joys of pardoned sin!
Should storms of wrath shake earth and sea,
Their minds have heaven and peace within.

447 I (1-3); III 1-2
We journey through a vale of tears,
By sorry a cloud o'ercast;
And worldly cares and worldly fears,
Go with us to the last.

Though earthborn shadows now may shroud
Thy thorny path awhile.

459 I c, II(1-4)^2, III 1;IV 1-2
While held in life's uneven way.
Strangers and pilgrims here below,
This earth, we know, is not our place;
But hasten through the vale of woe,
And, restless to behold thy face.

We've no abiding city here.
Patient the appointed race to run,
This weary world we cast behind.

475 III 3
Involved in shadows of a darksome night.

490 III(2)^2
Till this fleeting, fleeting life is o'er.

505 IV 1
And then, O then! when sorrow's night is o'er.

518 I 2
I pass my years of banishment.

522 IV(2-4)^2
And e'en the hope that threw
A moment's sparkle through our tears
Is dimmed and vanished too.

529 I (5-6)^2
Dark is the wilderness,
Earth has no resting place.

530 II 3
Say, why in the valley of death should I weep?

547 I 5
Clear before us through the darkness.

578 II(1-2)^2
A few more storms shall beat
On this wild, rocky shore.

581 II (3-4)^2
And we shrink back again to life,
Fond of our prison and our clay.

584 I(1-4)^4
I would not live alway; I would not ask to stay
Where storm after storm rises dark o'er the way:
The few lurid mornings that dawn on us here
Are enough for life's woes, full enough for its cheer.

585 I 2; III 1-2
To leave this weary road,
It is not death to fling
Aside this sinful dust.

587 I (5-6)^2; II 2 (5-6)^2
Were this frail world our final rest,
Living or dying, none were blest.

Beyond this vale of death,
Nor life's affections, transient fire,
With sparks fly upward and expire.

588 III (1)^2
Far from this world of toil and strife.

591 I 3
And bids them leave a world of woe.

593 VI (1)^2
Redeemed from earth and pain.

594 II 5-6; III 6
Still tossed on a sea of distress,
Hard toiling to make the blest shore.
The mortal affliction is past.

602 II (1-2)^3
Long thy exiles have been pining,
Far from rest, and home, and thee.

606 II (3-4)^6
Once they were mourners here below,
And poured out, cries and tears,
They wrestled hard, as we do now,
With sins, and doubts, and fears.

607 I 3; II 5-6
My soul shall quit the mournful vale,
I suffer out my three score years,
Till my Deliverer comes.

608 IV (3-4)^2
Blest seats! through rude and stormy scenes
I onward press to you.

609 II (3-5)^3
When tossed on life's tempestuous shoals,
Where storms arise and ocean rolls,
And all is drear--'tis heaven.

615 I 6
My heart is aching here.

617 I 1
On Jordan's stormy banks I stand.

620 IV 1-2
But the waves of that silent sea
Roll dark before my sight.

622 II 2
The world is growing old.

625 II 1-2
"Forever with the Lord!"
Amen, so let it be.

628 II 3; III (2-3)[3]
When from this earthly prison free,
Affliction's waves may round me foam,
Although, like Lazarus, sick and poor.

689 II 2
Life's twilight path, with pitfalls strewn.

689 II 4
Of treading that dim path alone.

Earth a Good Place to Leave

4 II(5,6)⁴; III 3-4

I all on earth forsake,
Its wisdom, fame, and power.

I shall, on eagles' wings uphorne,
To heaven ascend.

13 IV(3-4)²

To Canaan's bounds point out the way,
And lead us to thy holy hill.

19 II 4, III 8

Safely to arrive at home
Seal it for thy courts above.

22 IV 4; VIII 4

To carry us above
To fairer worlds on high.

39 III 3

Borne on angel's wings to heaven.

42 II 4

New thoughts of God, new hopes of heaven.

43 V 4

But sweeter still, to wake and find thee there.

51 II 2

And I, perhaps, am near my home.

52 IV 3-4

Pointing up to th t fair heaven
We may hope to gain t last.

53 III 4

Take us, Lord, to dwell with thee.

57 IV 3

May the morn in heaven wake us.

64 IV(3-4)²

And sit and sing herself away
To everlasting bliss.

68 IV 3-4

We reach the rest remaining
To spirits of the blest.

69 IV 5-6

Thus may all our Sabbaths prove,
Till we jo n the church above.

73 II (2,3, 4)[3]
But there's anobler rest above;
To that our laboring souls aspire
With ardent hope and strong desire.

85 IV 6
Leave thy footstool, take thy throne.

97 II 4
They look beyond this transient world.

103 IV 3
Waft our happy spirits o'er.

159 II 6
And bade us, immortal, to heaven ascend.

168 III 4
He lives, to bring us safely there.

187 I 3
Which bade their souls to heaven aspire.

197 I 2
Wean it from earth, through all its pulses move.

201 I 3-4
Bright as a lamp its doctrines shine,
To guide our souls to heaven.

202 VI 4
And make thy word my guide to heaven.

216 II(3,4)[2]
Shouting, their heavenly Zion gain,
And pass through death triumphant home.

219 II 6
When thou shall call us home.

227 IV 3-4
That haven of repose to find
Where all our labors end.

230 II 4;III 3
To raise our souls to heaven
And millions more, still on the way.

240 I (5-6)[2]
Let us think how heaven and home
Lie beyond that,"Till he come."

252 V 3
Vain world, farewell, from thee I part.

261 IV 2
And on to glory go.

275 I 3-4
To tear my soul from earth away,
For Jesus to receive.

284 I(1-2)^{7}
Weary of earth, and laden with my sin,
I look at heaven and long to enter in.

294 VI 3-4
And, saved from earth, appear
Before your Saviour's face.

299 IV 3-4
May thy blest wings,celestial Dove,
Safely convey me home.

309 III 4
And grace will lead me home.

314 IV 3-4
And may I wait the strong desire
To mount above the skies!

341 IV 4
That calls thy willing servants home.

344 II 7-8;VI(1-4);^{4} VII(1-4)^{2}
Thou, that we might follow,
Hast gone upon high.
Onward, ever onward,
Journeying o'er the road
Worn by saints before us,
Journeying on to God!

Higher, then, and higher,
Bear the ransomed soul,
Earthly toils forgetting,
Saviour, to his goal.

345 IV 1-2
Each moment draw from earth away
My heart, that lowly waits thy call.

379 III(3-4)^{2}
I'll bid this world of noise and show
With all its glittering snares,adieu!

382 III 8
And take the conquerors home.

384 IV 11
Pilgrims to your country.

405 IV(1-2,3,4)^{3}
Swift as the eagle cuts the air,
We'll amount aloft to his abode;
On wings of love our souls shall fly,
Nor tire amidst the heavenly road.

404 IV 3-4
And ne'er forsake the blessed road
That lead them safe to heaven.

403 III(3-4)^{2}
Open our eyes and make us see
The path which leads to heaven and thee.

421 VII(3-4)^{2}
The pilgrims find their Father's house,
Jerusalem the blest.

426 II 1-2
O that my heart might dwell aloof
From all created things.

426 III 2-3;IV 3-4
In every trial here,
Shall bear thee to thy heaven above.

A thousand ways has Providence
To bring believers home.

428 III 3
And then go home my crown to wear.

432 II(1-3,4,5,6;)^{5} IV 4,(5-6)^{2}
Beyond the bounds of time and space,
Look forward to that heavenly place,
The saint's secure abode;
On faith's strong eagle pinions rise,
And force your passage to the skies,
And scale the mount of God.

Our conflicts here shall soon be past,
And you and I ascend at last,
Triumphant with our head.

440 III(3-4)^{4}
May I but safely reach my home,
My God, my heaven, my all

444 IV 3-4
My ransomed soul shall soar away,
To sing thy praise in endless day.

450 III 1
I know not what beyond may lie.

455 V(1-2,3)^{3}
O let me wing my hallowed flight
From earthborn woe and care,
And soar above these clouds of night.

458 IV(5,6)^{2}
Soon shall close thy earthly mission
Swift shall pass thy pilgrim days.

459 I 2,II(2,3,4-5)^{3}III(2,3,4,5-6)^{3}IV(3-4,5-6)^{3}
V(1-3,4)^{2}VI(3-4,5-6.)^{3}

Of all that travel to the sky
This earth, we know, is not our place;
But hasten through the vale of woe,
And, restless to behold thy face,
Swift to our heavenly country move.

459 II 2
This earth we know is not our place.

But seek a city out of sight;
Thither our steady course we steer,
Aspiring to the plains of light,
Jerusalem, the saint's abode,
Whose founder is the living God.

From strength to strength we travel on,
The new Jerusalem to find;
Our labor this, our only aim,
To find the new Jerusalem.

Through thee, who all our sins hast borne,
Freely and graciously forgiven,
With songs to Zion we return,
Contending for our native heaven.

The church of the firstborn to join,
We travel to the mount of God;
With joy upon our heads arise,
And meet our Saviour in the skies.

468 III 3-4
He will lead thee by the hand
Gently to the better land.

501 II 4
The world I leave.

507 IV 1
While I am a pilgrim here.

516 I 1-2
Sweet hour of prayer, sweet hour of prayer,
That calls me from a world of care.

524 IV 5-6
Straight to my home above,
I travel calmly on.

525 IV 1-2
My soul would leave this heavy clay,
At that transporting word.

535 IV(3-4)2
Run up with joy the shining way
To see and praise my Lord.

535 V (1-2)2
Fearless of hell and ghastly death,
I'd break through every foe.

540 IV 1-2
Well, the delightful day will come,
When my dear Lord will bring me home.

547 V 1-2
Lord, obediently will go,
Gladly leaving all below.

567 I 4
Marching to the promised land.

570 III 2
Set out afresh for heaven.

572 V 4
If thou shouldst take us home.

578 II 5-6, I 5-6; III 5-6
Then, O my Lord, prepare
My soul for that blest day.

Then, O my Lord, prepare
My soul for that blest day.

Then, O my Lord, prepare
My soul for that blest day.

579 IV 2
Transported from this vale, to live.

585 III 3-4
And rise, on strong exulting wings,
To live among the just.

594 I 6
And mount with his spirit above.

595 IV 3-4
Awake, ye nations underground;
Ye saints, ascend the skies!

602 II 1
Long thy exiles have been pining:

605 I (3,4); II (3-4)^2; III. 3-4
"This earth," he cries, "is now my place,
I seek my place in heaven."

We more than taste the heavenly powers,
And antedate that day.

And let our ransomed spirits go
To grasp the God we seek.

607 I 4, II 7-8
And soar to worlds on high,
And wipe away his servant's tears,
And take his exile home.

608 VI (1-2)^2
Jerusalem, my happy home,
My soul still pants for thee.

609 II 5
And all is drear--'tis heaven.

610 I (1-2)^2; IV (5-6)^2
O mother dear, Jerusalem!
When shall I come to thee?

Jerusalem, my happy home,
Would God I were in thee.

611 III (1-2,3,4,5-7,8;)^6
Ten thousand to their endless home
This solemn moment fly;
And we are to the margin come,
And we expect to die;
His militant embodied host,
With wishful looks we stand,
And long to see that happy coast,
And reach the heavenly land.

611 IV(1-2,3,4)^3; V 7,8

Our old companions in distress
We haste again to see,
And eager long for our release,
And full felicity.
Come, Lord of hosts, the waves divide,
And land us all in heaven!

614 I 1-2

For thee, O dear, dear country,
Mine eyes their vigils keep.

615 I 5

I'm sighing for that country.

615 III 7-8

Christ bring us all to the Homeland,
Of his eternal love.

617 I (2-4)^2; VI (3-4)^2

And cast a wishful eye
To Canaan's fair and happy land,
Where my possessions lie.
Filled with delight, my raptured soul
Would here no longer stay;
Though Jordan's waves roun me roll,
Fearless I'd launch away.

620 I 1-4; II(1,3-4)^3 III (1,3-4)^3; V 1-4

One sweetly solemn thought
Comes to me o'er and o'er,--
I am nearer home today
Than I ever have been before.

Nearer my Father's house,
Nearer the great white throne;
Nearer the crystal sea.

Nearer the bound of life,
Nearer leaving the cross;
Nearer gaining the crown.

O if my mortal feet Have almost gained the brink,
If it be I am nearer home
Even to-day than I think.

621 IV(4)^2

And Heaven, the heart's true home, will come at last.

622 IV 2-4

I greatly long to see,
The special place my dearest Lord
In love prepares for me.

623 I(3-4,7-9)[4]; II 7

Rise from transitory things,
Toward heaven, thy native place.
Rise, my soul, and haste away,
To seats prepared above.

Unward tends to His abode.

624 I(1,2,3,4,5,9)[5]; II(1,2,3,4,5,9)[4]; III(3,4,9)[3]
IV(1-2)[2]

How happy is the pilgrim's lot,
How free from every anxious thought,
From worldly hope and fear!
Confined to neither court nor cell,
His soul disdains on earth to dwell,
He only sojourns here.

This happiness in part is mine,
Already saved from low design,
From every creature-love;
Blest with the scorn of finite good,
My soul is lightened of its load,
And seeks the things above.

And my abiding home;
For me my elder brethren stay,
And angels beckon me away.

I come, thy servant, Lord, replies,
I come to meet thee in the skies.

625 II 3-4

Yet nightly pitch my moving tent
A day's march nearer home.

627 I(1-5)[6]; II(1-5)[6]; III(1-5)[6]

Beyond the smiling and the weeping,
I shall be soon;
Beyond the waking and the sleeping,
Beyond the sowing and the reaping,
I shall be soon.

Beyond the blooming and the fading,
I shall be soon;
Beyond the shining and the shading,
Beyond the hoping and the dreading,
I shall be soon.

Beyond the rising and the setting,
I shall be soon;
Beyond the calming and the fretting,
Beyond the remembering and forgetting,
I shall be soon.

627 IV(1-5)[5]; V (1-5)[6]

Beyond the parting and the meeting,
I shall be soon;
Beyond the fare well and the greeting,
Beyond the pulse's fever beating,
I shall be soon.

Beyond the frost-chain and the fever,
I shall be soon;
Beyond the rock-waste and the river,
Beyond the ever and the never,
I shall be soon.

628 Ref.[(1-4)[6]][5] III 1

I'm going home, I'm going home,
I'm going home to die no more;
To die no more, to die no more,
I'm going home to die no more.

While here, a stranger far from home.

638 IV 3-4

Be mine the happier lot to own
A heavenly mansion near the throne.

685 III 3-4

Through the earthly darkness
To the heavenly day.

714 IV 4

And lead us through the brightening years to heaven's eternal day.

COMMENT

The same standard set by the World Service Program for the Christ of the hymnal applies also and of course to the God of the hymnal. The discussion of the world viewpoint applies here as well. In addition we may compare the nau measures with the OGW, SG and SGW measures. Doing so we find that there are 2942 ϕ measures and only 248 SG, 13 OGW, and 4 SGW measures or .07 of the total of the two sets of measures as against .91. Comparing them with the total measures for the first section (11,335) we have .259 for the nau measures as compared with .023 for the SGW, SG, and OGW measures.

One wonders why such a large emphasis should be placed upon picturing God as an oriental monarch who surrounds himself with a large number of retainers whose chief duty is to bow before him, acclaim him, sing his praises to his face, etc. rather than to help him develop his kingdom, ameliorate the condition of his subjects, and bring holiness and happiness to all. Would this not be at least as acceptable to the God who is represented in the scriptures as being intensely interested in the welfare of his children, so much so, indeed, that He gave His only-begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life. (Jn. 3: 16.)

One wonders, if, after all, the God of the hymnal is the God of the Christ. The prayer which He taught his disciples is surely a standard by which we may judge. There man's position in relation to God is set forth in a single, dignified expression - "hallowed be thy name." This is followed immediately by two expressions that indicate an understanding of the great yearning heart of the Father and a desire to see His purposes for mankind fulfilled: two emphases on doing versus one on worship. Referring again to our study of the nau measures, we find that there are eleven emphases on these to one on the OGW, SG and SGW measures.

It may be that the good brethern who labored so assiduously to compile a hymnal for the church considered that the people preferred to satisfy their consciences with the activities Godward indicated by the nau measures. One would not be surprised if they did, for such activities are a great deal easier and come much cheaper than those required by the World Service program. But, is it possible, that after 2000 years the great church is still a babe? Has the time not yet come when it may have a little meat? Why continue to emphasize its babyhood by such a powerful educative agent as a book of hymns?

There were 676 measures of the activity of God studied. The measures turn out to have a relation with each other very similar to those in the case of the Christ of the hymnal, and so are in fair comparison with the service measures of the first section. There were 95 ✓ measures, 10 ϕ measures, 248 x measures and 324 + measures; or, .139, .014, .366, and .477 respectively. There are, therefore, .139 measures on the world viewpoint as compared with .477 on limited and individualistic measures. Of these measures, 48, or .074 are given to leadership. Here we find one ☿ measure, 6 ☓ measures and 41 + measures. The ☿ measure as compared with the + measures, therefore, are in the relation of one to forty-one. This ☿ measure refers to the fact that

"God leads forth in beauty all the starry band
Of shining worlds in splendor thru the skies,"

and, therefore, has nothing to do with the matter of leadership in the great aching mob of human needs.

COMMENT

One is surprised to find the Buddhist idea of heaven set forth in the official hymnal of a great evangelical church, but there are three emphases that at least seem closely allied to this: 47 VI 3-4, and 490 III 3-4. Is there a place for the utter negation of personality in the teachings of the masterly Christ?

But the outstanding impression that one receives from a study of this section of the hymnal is its heaven-centeredness, and lack of interest in anything beyond. The land of love turns out to be a land of love for itself and its own folk. Here, especially, God is made to appear like an oriental ruler of the old type surrounded by a host of retainers whose whole time, which is depicted as endless, is spent in adoration, adulation, and praise. One is forced to ask again if this is the God of the Christ who said "My Father worketh hitherto and I work."? Can it be that the great souls who have given their lives a thousand times and in many ways in the interest of the human race shpuld suddenly go to a land where they forget all about their fellows, and live a purely heaven-centered existence? Can it be that those who have striven so strenuously as "laborers together with God," to establish His kingdom here shall suddenly enter into a place where they grow callous to all earth's needs, lose all sense of fellowship with God in its betterment, and spend forever an existence whose chief employ is adulation? Can it be that the vigorous souls that have entered into the fellowship of Christ's sufferings and have turned the world upside down in the interest of its improvement shall suddenly be translated to a land where in spite of the immediate presence of the Christ whom they have served by faith only on earth shall suddenly lose all interest in it, sever their relation with the Christ in toil, forget all obligations outside a self-centered heaven, and spend the rest of eternity in enjoying themselves and in oriental adulation of God while He toils on?
